

Advanced Consortium on Cooperation, Conflict, and Complexity

EARTH INSTITUTE | COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

AC⁴ Scholarship for Students from Developing Countries

AC⁴ firmly supports the mission of The International Association for Conflict Management (IACM) to encourage scholars and practitioners to develop and disseminate theory, research, and experience that is useful for understanding and improving conflict management in family, organizational, societal, and international settings.

AC⁴ gives up to five scholarships of $2,000 each to masters and doctoral students who are nationals of developing countries. Students from developing countries studying within the US are also eligible to apply.

Applicants should:

1. be able to articulate their desire for attending the IACM conference;
2. demonstrate financial need that hinders their attendance at the conference;
3. be currently enrolled as a master's or doctoral student at a university;
4. be accepted by IACM to present at the conference

Applications should include:

1. a 2-page essay which outlines applicant's topic, how applicant will add value to the
2. IACM conference, and how applicant will benefit from this scholarship;
3. copy of abstract submitted to IACM;
4. one letter of recommendation in sealed envelope with signature of recommender across the seal; letter should explicitly state that applicant is a currently enrolled student;
5. itemized budget (indicating how scholarship will be spent);
6. applicant's country of origin

Scholarship recipients are expected to attend an AC⁴ -Sponsored reception at the IACM conference.

Scholarship recipients will be notified by email. Questions can be directed to Hakim M.A. Williams at hwilliams@ei.columbia.edu